Over the past year, our organization has continued to work with local agencies, donors, and volunteers to improve the lives of others in our service area. Working together, we continue to transform our community in ways that no one person could do alone.

United Way of Mid-Maine would not succeed in its work without the dedicated individuals who live and work here. Reginald Perry, founder of PFBF CPAs and our campaign chair, convened a diverse group of individuals for the 2009-2010 campaign cabinet.

These cabinet members saw clearly how resources in our community could be brought together to create a meaningful and positive impact. I am pleased to announce that Reg has agreed to return as the campaign chair for 2010-2011 annual campaign.

I also want to thank Tina Chapman, President/CPO, for her leadership and continued collaboration with a wide variety of constituents. Our hard-working board members are dedicated to our cause. The collective work they do guides us and our success in the community.

Our agency partners, friends, contributors, and our recognized role in the development of our community's support system are critical factors for success. I extend my thanks to all the caring individuals who make mid-Maine a great place to live and who give, advocate, and volunteer in order to improve and enrich all of our lives.

Tina Chapman, President/CPO

President/CPO,
Tina Chapman

During a year when the economy sparked our conversations, weighed heavily on our hearts and minds, and impacted our personal lives, our United Way of Mid-Maine family remained continually thankful for all we were given and able to achieve throughout the year. Our donors demonstrated that even amid a recession they believe in the work of United Way and our partner agencies. They entrusted us to advance the common good and make a difference in our communities.

Our partner agencies provided a wide range of services to our most vulnerable community members. During the year we funded 35 programs at 27 partner agencies that provided more than 11,000 people in our service area with a United Way of Mid-Maine funded service. This year we were pleased to have three new partners— the Central/Western Maine Workforce Development Council providing the WorkReady Program; the Maine Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society providing case management to people with MS in northern Kennebec and Somerset counties; and Sexual Assault Crisis and Support providing prevention programming in our catchment area as well.

As we look forward, United Way of Mid-Maine will embark on our next phase of strategic planning— to assure we are addressing the most pressing needs and to identify any gaps to which we must attend. We will identify 5-year, measurable goals to which we will be accountable and in which we will be invested. To be successful, we will need engaged and connected community members like you. Thank you for touching the lives of our fellow community members, and we look forward to another year of heartwarming success.

Volunteers are among the most important resources in our community. It is because of their support and dedication to mid-Maine that we are able to make a difference in the lives of thousands.

During 2009/2010, more than 240 volunteers contributed 1,378 hours of their time. This translates into an in-kind value of $26,870!

Many thanks go out to community leaders, partners, donors and volunteers who work tirelessly to support the mid-Maine community throughout the year! Thank you.

If not me, than who?

“There are two main ways in helping any cause: The gift of time and the gift of money. United Way of Mid-Maine provides me the opportunity to give of my time as a United Way board member and to make financial donations that will help local service organizations make a difference in others lives.”

Campaign 2009-2010

Campaign Chair
Reginald Perry
Senior Director, PFBF CPAs

This year's campaign theme "many hands" highlighted the caring power of the dynamic individuals and businesses in our community. The coordinated efforts of these great human resources inspires me every day. We must believe in our ability to work together and in our combined strength and resourcefulness. We accomplish miraculous things when we unite as one and inspire each other to be our best.

I want to thank the many hands that joined forces, pulled together, and made things happen. With your generous donations of time, money, and spirited advocacy we gave strength to 35 local programs assisting thousands of individuals and families in our area. This collaboration of donors, agencies, and volunteers is a fantastic community investment that returns great value back to everyone who lives, works in, and visits our region.

Our community exists as a great network of connections: powerful, vital, caring, and supportive. Serving as campaign chair this past year has allowed me to deepen my appreciation of those connections. Two years ago I helped start the Neighbor to Neighbor program creating awareness of our neighbors in need. Building on that work I saw how connecting dynamic people and diverse resources could lead to solutions and success. This work of making connections and finding resources has so inspired me that I am happy to say that I have volunteered again and will serve as the campaign chair for 2010- 2011.

It is with great appreciation and continued optimism that I invite you to join me and the many hands in our community as we work together to advance the common good and to Live United.

We had an extremely busy year! Just to highlight a few projects, we partnered with KVCAP to begin a “Windows of Warmth” program to make and install reusable window inserts to increase fuel efficiency. Mini-grants were provided to 12 organizations including the Town of China, Town of Jackman, and Unity Barn Raisers to provide furnace cleanings for 60 low-income families. We also provided free tax assistance to more than 50 individuals through our CA$H Coalition tax clinics. United Way of Mid-Maine worked with the Somerset County Family Enrichment Council to offer a series of parenting education classes at North Elementary School in Skowhegan.

Every day people in Maine need help, whether it is for paying heating bills, finding financial counseling, or locating child care assistance. Often trying to find the right phone number or service can be overwhelming. Since 2-1-1 Maine (a program of United Ways of Maine and Youth Alternatives Inghram) began statewide, the 2-1-1 Maine call center has assisted more than 4,000 people from central Maine with information and referrals regarding a full range of health and human services. In addition, the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention has contracted with 2-1-1 Maine to provide confidential information and referrals to the general public related to H1N1 and seasonal flu. The most frequent requests were for heating and utility assistance, housing/shelter, H1N1 and seasonal influenza, tax services, mental health services, and food. These top call categories encapsulated the issues that we must continue to address in mid-Maine— both as emergent needs and as preventable outcomes.

Meeting Immediate Human Needs (CIT)

The Meeting Immediate Human Needs Community Impact Team (CIT) envisions a community in which everyone can be self-sufficient and is able to meet basic needs of food, shelter, heat, and a safe living environment. In 2009 the CIT evaluated and allocated funds to eight community programs.

This past year the Meeting Immediate Human Needs CIT funded the “Keeping Mid-Maine Warm” emergency fund for critical heating needs. The fund focused on assisting low-income families who are not eligible for the low-income Home Energy Assistance Program. As a long term solution, the CIT is working on weatherizing homes, providing furnace cleanings, and developing the “Windows of Warmth” initiative. These strategies will help local people reduce their critical and emergency heating needs in the future.

The team has also established the “Pantry Project” which collaborates with area businesses to collect food for distribution to local food pantries to combat hunger. The latest numbers for Maine show that one in five households suffer food insecurity. More than half these families are actually hungry. That means that 10% of people in the State of Maine do not have enough food in their house to create a meal. Their children go to school hungry, try to study hungry, and go to bed hungry.

The Promoting Independence Community Impact Team (CIT) has worked hard to enhance opportunities for people to be self-sufficient through education, awareness, and participation. In 2009 the CIT evaluated and allocated funds to 13 community programs that help mid-Maine individuals and families live independently.

Through a series of community conversations the CIT has been discussing how they can best help our elders and have developed a Senior Network Sub-Committee. Its goal is to help seniors access the information they need to live healthy, successful lives. The team continued its work with the “Central Maine CA$H Coalition” in collaboration with the IRS, Casey Family Services, Women, Work & Community, and Key Bank. This is a free tax preparation clinic. The goal of the CA$H Coalition is to help families and individuals achieve financial stability. The team offered tax clinics in Waterville this year and hopes to also offer this service in Skowhegan as well for the next tax season.

The team also helped with “Keeping Hearts Warm” this winter in coordination with the Meeting Immediate Human Needs CIT’s focus on “Keeping Mid-Maine Warm.” “Keeping Hearts Warm” was their third annual blanket drive and collected over 300 blankets for mid-Maine’s neediest community members so that they could stay warm throughout the cold Maine winter. This project was in coordination with “Make A Difference Day” Saturday, October 23.

Strengthening Children, Youth & Families (CIT)

CIT Chair
 John Butera
 Central Maine
 Growth Council

The Strengthening Children, Youth & Families Community Impact Team (CIT) understands that children and youth are the future of our communities. In 2009 the CIT evaluated and allocated funds to 13 programs that help Maine children, youth and families succeed.

The team worked on a variety of projects specifically focused on early childhood development. The team attended "Inland's Biggest Baby Shower" promoting "Born Learning," a program that focuses on the importance of education from birth to age 5. The team provided pamphlets, booklets, magnets, and more to expectant mothers. The team's ongoing support of the "Dolly Parton Imagination Library" program in Jackman encourages children to start reading at an early age by providing one free book a month. The team is working to expand this program in other communities.

In collaboration with Kennebec Valley Community Action Program, the team continued to work on a two-year "School Readiness" pilot project with North Elementary School in Skowhegan. The project has offered a series of parenting workshops for families called "1,2,3,4 Parents!" Additionally, the team has collaborated with other Maine United Ways to brainstorm ways of creating a state-wide "School Readiness" pilot project focusing on a common statewide goal that "Children are born healthy, thrive, and are ready to succeed in school."

Healthy Maine Partnership

Healthy Maine Partnership of Greater Waterville's (HMP of GW) mission is to "support and encourage policies, environments, education, and activities in our communities and schools that promote physical activity, good nutrition and the reduction of tobacco use."

Last year HMP of GW saw expanded programs including a new position for the Youth Advocacy Program staffed by Debra Frace to assist local youth group in affecting change in their community around physical activity, nutrition, and tobacco prevention. In February, Amber Desrosiers was hired to serve as our Health Promotion Coordinator to assist local businesses with worksite wellness programs.

Many thanks to everyone dedicating their time to our coalition, including Action Team members and subcommittees. Your support promotes health and wellness for our entire community.

Leadership Circle Chair

A leadership circle gift to United Way of Mid-Maine creates lasting value in a number of amazing ways. First and foremost it is a gift to our entire community and the human service agencies that help people through tough times. Secondly, it is a gift that helps motivate others in our community to give and to serve. It also inspires a vision for our community that ensures real impact and progress.

Your generosity gives to the spirit of hope that is the foundation of United Way of Mid-Maine's work to advance the common good. Our community depends upon caring individuals like you who give time and money to help their friends and neighbors. Working together we identify needs and bring together the resources and solutions that will create lasting changes for mid-Maine.

For every dollar contributed, for every hour volunteered, for every United Way message you share— countless lives are improved and our community is strengthened. Your generosity makes it happen!

Thank you for supporting United Way of Mid-Maine. This year we have integrated the Leadership Circle Report into the Community Report so that we can share with you the dynamic work that your investment generates.
